

What you will find in this document ?
	In this document, you will find the career path of a Product Manager.
	In the table Concept, you will see some sentences to explain the concept of the level and how to move from a level to another one.
	In the table skills by level, you will find an in depth view of the skills you need as Product Manager regarding your level.
Three key decisions already made
	In order to move from a level to another one, you will need to master at least 50% of the skills of the next level. You will be .1. To access to the .2, you will need to master 75%, then 99%
	We will use the concept of shuhari to deal with the progressions among topics. You can be a learner, master or teacher
	We use the CORE Framework to define the job of a Product Manager. On top of that, we add Product Strategy for IC & Management for managers
How to use this document?
	This document is here to help you know where you are and what are the skills you have to work on
	We recommend you to make a self assessment before every goal meetings with your managers. Your manager will also assess you, and you will be able to talk about your progression and goals for next semester.																		